4th November 2018 Fourth before Advent Year B – Week 31

From Fr Charles

Remembrance Sunday

St John's Whiteladies Road War Memorial Act of Remembrance

This will take place on Friday 9th November at the Farmers Market location (as usual) at 10.45. This is programmed to enable the schools to attend during the week and those who work in Whiteladies Road and nearby to attend in working hours.

Friday Mass at ASC will be at 9.30am (and not the usual 10.30am) on the 9th November.

All Saints Act of Remembrance on Armistice Day

This year Armistice Day falls on a Sunday (11th November). The act of Remembrance (and the start of Parish Mass) will take place at our War Memorial at 10.45. This day will mark the centenary of the conclusion of World War I.

• Family Service - Act of Remembrance

Remembrance Sunday Family Service will be at the usual time of 9.30am – it will then lead into the joint act of Remembrance with the Parish Mass at 10.45am This year it takes place on Armistice Day (11th November).

The Right Reverend Vivienne Faull, Bishop of Bristol

Make sure the date of Christ the King (Sunday 25th November) is fixed in your diary. This will be when +Viv spends the day with us, she will attend the Family Service at 9.30 and then Preach and Preside at the 11.00am Parish Mass.

This will also be the final act of celebration and thanksgiving in our 150th Anniversary Year.

Parish Mass will be followed by a wine and buffet lunch for all, served in the Atrium.

What the Poppy Means

The poppy is

- A symbol of Remembrance and hope
- Worn by millions of people
- Red because of the natural colour of field poppies

The poppy is NOT

- A symbol of death or a sign of support for war
- A reflection of politics or religion
- Red to reflect the colour of blood

History of the Poppy

Wearing a poppy is a personal choice and reflects individual and personal memories. It is not compulsory but is greatly appreciated by those it helps – our beneficiaries: those currently serving in our Armed Forces, veterans, and their families and dependants.

During the First World War (1914–1918) much of the fighting took place in Western Europe. Previously beautiful countryside was blasted, bombed and fought over, again and again. The landscape swiftly turned to fields of mud: bleak and barren scenes where little or nothing could grow.

Bright red Flanders poppies (Papaver rhoeas) however, were delicate but resilient flowers and grew in their thousands, flourishing even in the middle of chaos and destruction. In early May 1915, shortly after losing a friend in Ypres, a Canadian doctor, Lt Col John McCrae was inspired by the sight of poppies to write a now famous poem called 'In Flanders Fields'.

McCrae's poem inspired an American academic, Moina Michael, to make and sell red silk poppies which were brought to England by a French woman, Anna Guérin. The (Royal) British Legion, formed in 1921, ordered 9 million of these poppies and sold them on 11 November that year. The poppies sold out almost immediately and that first ever 'Poppy Appeal' raised over £106,000; a considerable amount of money at the time. This was used to help WW1 veterans with employment and housing.

The following year, Major George Howson set up the 'Poppy Factory' to employ disabled ex-Servicemen. Today, the factory and the Legion's warehouse in Aylesford produce millions of poppies each year.

The demand for poppies in England was so high that few were reaching Scotland. Earl Haig's wife established the 'Lady Haig Poppy Factory' in Edinburgh in 1926 to produce poppies exclusively for Scotland. Over 5 million Scottish poppies (which have four petals and no leaf unlike poppies in the rest of the UK) are still made by hand by disabled ex-Servicemen at Lady Haig's Poppy Factory each year and distributed by our sister charity Poppy Scotland.
